LET THE SPICES ADD VARIETY TO YOUR LIFE
LET THE SPICES ADD VARIETY TO YOUR LIFE
Experience the cuisines of India and be instantly transported thousands of miles by the exotic flavours and aromas of Mohgul Mahal Restaurant. We welcome you to enjoy the fruits of our labour as we carefully prepare authentic dishes from the rich history of India. Blended fresh daily, our warm and fragrant spices create a feast for your senses that will tickle your tastebuds.

Using only fresh, natural ingredients, our individual dishes each boast of distinctive flavours and aromas that you would have to travel to India to match. Our tradition of preparation and hospitality are yours to enjoy as we invite you to dine with us and think of our home as yours.
EATING WITH YOUR FINGERS

Here is a suggestion we think will enhance your food experience at Moghul Mahal Restaurant, and hopefully more enjoyable too. There is no way around it, Indian food tastes best when eaten with your fingers! There is a tactile dimension added to the eating process. Besides, Indian food is designed to be eaten by hand. Breads are to be torn and wrapped around foods. Rice (not necessary to eat with fingers) is customarily blended with curries so each mouthful is unique.

If you eat off of a banana leaf (which, by the way, is still possible in many places in India) trying to use a knife and fork would shred your plate. Eating with your fingers is a cultural experience everyone should experience while visiting an Indian restaurant.

We will be pleased to provide finger bowls and or wet napkins in order clean up after your meal. And just like eating with chopsticks in a Chinese restaurant, feel free to switch back to utensils if you are not enjoying the experience.

Chai is an everyday beverage for Indian and other Asian households. It is sold wherever people gather, such as trains, bus stations and marketplaces. The chai vendors (wallahs) brew their tea in huge kettles over small charcoal fires. The chai is served in unglazed terra cotta pots or saucers called “kularhs” which the wallah may have actually made himself over an open fire. The unglazed pots impart an earthy flavor to the chai. Part of this “chai ritual” involves smashing the pots after drinking.
