

Domaine Lise et Bertrand Jousset

Lise and Bertrand have farmed their 11 hectares in Montlouis sur Loire et Touraine since 2003 with the same philosophy: "Whether alone or as a table companion, wine is meant to be shared and consumed. It is up to us, as vigneronns to craft a wine for every occasion."

Domaine Danjou-Banessy

Their soil has always been free from any chemicals; their father and grandfather were bio before anyone else. They are as non-interventionist as possible in the cellar. Benoit and Sebastien are Catalans but friends with many neo-vignerons that came from all over the world to Roussillon to produce great wines. Tradition and open-mindedness could explain the quality of their wines.

Domaine Binner

The Binner have been winemakers since 1770 in the "pocket of Colmar" in Ammerschwhir. The 12-hectare domain is run as a family business. The production of 50, 000 bottles a year according to organic principles justifies a large number of staff. The Binner have always favoured quality over quantity. The viticulture respects the environment with no pesticide but with grass cover.
